

ANDREW LEACH

Economist. Data Scientist. Policy Analyst. Academic leader. Author.

I am an energy and environmental economist and Professor of Economics and Law at the University of Alberta. My research spans climate, energy and environmental economics and policy with a focus on climate change policies and the law. I have advised federal and provincial governments and provided policy analysis to public- and private-sector clients. I am also an avid data scientist, exploring ways to summarize and visualize energy and economic indicators. I am a prolific writer, with over 200 bylines in major Canadian outlets.

EXPERIENCE

2006 – present	University of Alberta, Faculty Member Professor, Faculty of Arts (Economics) and Faculty of Law , 2022-present Professor, Alberta School of Business , 2022 Associate Professor, Alberta School of Business , 2011-2022 Enbridge Professor of Energy Policy, Alberta School of Business , 2012-2015 Assistant Professor, Alberta School of Business , 2006-2011
2006 – present	Economics and Policy Consultant Environmental policy development and evaluation. Policy advisor to federal and provincial governments. Expert witness on energy, economic, and regulatory files.
2015	Government of Alberta, Chair, Climate Leadership Panel
2012 – 2013	Environment and Climate Change Canada, Visiting Scholar
2003 – 2006	HEC Montréal, Faculty Member Assistant Professor/Professeur Adjoint, Institute of Applied Economics

EDUCATION

2019 – 2020	LLM (Constitutional Law) Thesis examined the constitutional anchors for climate change policies under the POGG, Trade and Commerce, and Criminal Law powers of the federal government.	University of Alberta
1999 – 2003	Ph.D. (Economics) Thesis applied numerical methods to examine the economics of climate change policy, including distributional issues and the impacts of uncertainty and learning on optimal policy.	Queen's University
1998 – 1999	MA (Economics) Focus on environmental, resource, and labour economics.	University of Guelph
1994 – 1998	B.Sc. (Environmental Science) Major: Environmental Economics and Policy.	University of Guelph

WORK PRODUCT

Publications	Academic Publications	aleach.ca/publications
Data Visualization	Data and visualization project archive	aleach.ca/projects
Opinion	Opinion Archive	aleach.ca/opinion

LANGUAGES

English - native
French - proficient

HOBBIES

I am an avid cyclist, occasional runner, downhill and cross-country skier, hockey player, and hobbyist woodworker.

NON PROFIT

Board of Directors, REACH Edmonton and Edmonton Juventus Cycling Club. Past Board Member, River Valley Alliance and Economic Society of Northern Alberta.